

There were three kids who loved playing football: Asta, Mark and Eren.

There three of them went to try for the school team. They went for the tryouts. In the tryouts they had to do some basic drills first, the coach watched how everyone was doing the drills. Some kids got more nervous when their coach was looking at them and messed up. For others if lucky they impressed the coach. The last thing for the tryouts was a match. There were 30 kids, each side got 15 each, it was a 11 aside game. Luckily the three boys were in the same team. The first half of the game was not good they were losing by 3 goals while their team had only scored a single goal. During the 10 minute break they had Eren tried to encourage the team, Asta and Mark then tried to do the same. The team's moral was still low but was a little less worse. When the next half began, Eren communicated with his team mates and Asta and Mark soon did the same. They kept on getting the ball but kept on losing it before they could score. When the time had ran out their team had lost by 1 goal. The coach makes his decision and in the 16 kids he chooses Eren, Asta and Mark were the few he had chosen. Eren was also named captain but a majority of the kids didn't agree with it. Eren asked the coach why he was made captain. The coach tells him that it was because he never gave up and that he showed proper leadership.
